The wife of Chaplin W. Adams, she died at 4:10 a.m. Saturday in Lynchburg General-Marshall Lodge Hospital.

Born in Appomattox County, she was the daughter of Rufus Hill Bates and Edmonia Jones Bates. She was a member of Salem United Methodist Church.

In addition to her husband, she is survived by two daughters Mrs. Ellen Midkiff of Red House and Mrs. Sara Harris of Appomattox; four sisters, Mrs. F. O. Jones, Mrs. C. R. Morton, Mrs. E. T. Sours and Lucille Bates of Spout Spring; two brothers, A. D. Bates and W. R. Bates of Spout Spring, and two grandchildren.

Performing Pageant

From Germany came the Nativity pageant, and the first play of this sort in the U.S. was performed at the German Catholic Church of the Holy Trinity in Boston, in 1851. Children dressed as Oriental shepherds offered gifts to the Christ Child at the altar, singing carols at the same time. The gifts were later distributed to the poor of the parish.

Play Delights

A hybrid Spanish-Indian play, called "Los Pastores," introduced by Spanish monks, may still take place in the backyards of San Antonio, Tex. at Christmastime. With no props, curtains and a cast of amateurs, it yearly delights with its spiritual innovations.

It runs from Christmas to Candlemas, in homes located in out-of-way places so only the initiated can find it. The object is to prevent the merely curious observer from watching this spiritual miracle play.

Children's Choir Presents Program

Overconfidence Causes Accidents

One of the greatest causes of hunting accidents is overconfidence in ability and equipment.

If you think that this column is going to be a hunting safety lecture, you're right! And, if you don't think you need to read it, brother, you're an accident looking for a place to happen because you're over confident.

Let's look at an imaginary case of gross overconfidence.

A hunter walks into a lodge, unloads his new rifle and joins his buddies for dinner. Later that night, one of the group is accidentally shot as the rifle is being passed around for inspection.

Whose fault was the accident? Let's check this one closely because it looks so simple.

First, our man should have unloaded his rifle outside the cabin. Secondly, he should have counted the cartridges as they came out of the gun and then recounted them as he put them into his belt. Third, he obviously had the action closed instead of open as it should be when ever a gun passes from person to person.

Every man in that room was partly responsible for the accident because everyone of them was overconfident. The fellow who owned the gun brought it inside to unload because he knew he'd be careful as he chambered the cartridges through. He never counted the cartridges, because he'd unloaded guns hundreds of times before and never left anything in them.

Each of the other men who handled the gun as it was passed around had so much confidence in the man next to him that they accepted it with a closed action, never bothering to check it out themselves.

Year after year, accidents like the one we've just looked at happens unnecessarily. Time after time the excuse is, "I thought the safety was on," or "I was sure it was empty." There is no excuse for that kind of accident because it could have been prevented.

Machines do not think . . . a gun is a machine . . . you must think for your gun.

The best way I know of to prevent the kind of foolish accidents we're talking about is to remember that no gun ever injured anyone. People are injured by other people who do not respect the power of a firearm.

In Austria

Custom of visiting Santa Claus in Austria, is not as dangerous as it was years ago. It was an addition for children's contained a switch. They'd like to see Santa Claus.

In Italy

From Italy comes a poetic addition. For Christmas the children read their poems in return, for goodies.

In Sweden

An ancient custom still observed in Swedish households is that of "digging for pot." Each person places a piece of imitation sausage dropped for good luck.

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of our husband and father, Bennett Harding, who passed away, Dec. 26, 1965.

Sad memories crowd this time of year,
For the father and husband we loved is not here.
Time speeds on five years has passed,
Since death its gloomy shadows cast.
His grave we tend with loving hands
And keep flowers on it.
For there his spirit's body rest.
His weary hours and days of pain
His troubled nights are past.
And in our aching hearts we know
He has found sweet rest.
Sadly missed by wife and daughter. 12-24-1p
